Bad Weather Does Not Stop Successful “Preview Day”

Despite thunder and rain, 225 high school and potential transfer students and guests visited Rust College Saturday, March 26 to get a firsthand look at Rust College. Guests were treated to breakfast, prizes and entertainment throughout the day, with performances from the Rust College A’Cappella Choir, the Blue Blazing Marching Band, Greek organizations and the Theatre Guild. Students, along with parents, and school counselors were granted the opportunity to speak with key staff members of Rust College — Ms. Helen Street, Financial Aid; Dr. Juanita Seals-Jones, First Year Experience/COPE Center, Dr. Paul C. Lampley, Vice President for Academic Affairs, and several others. Each Division of Rust College was represented in the McMillan Multi-Purpose Center — where parents and students had a chance to speak directly to Division chairpersons, as well as current students who are working toward degrees in those fields.

In addition to the Rust College performances, guests had the opportunity to show off their talents; several visitors sang and danced in the talent show held Saturday afternoon. Those who were interested were able to audition for Ms. Dorothy L. Jones, A’Cappella Choir director — ten students were chosen for the choir and received scholarships on the spot to get them started financially at Rust College.

“We are pleased with the number of guests who participated in Preview Day, despite the rain and weather,” said members of the Enrollment Services team.
