Rust College Shemaar Stapleton Wins Homerun Derby at 2023 Black College World Series

Montgomery, AL - Shemaar Stapleton of Rust College has won the Guardian Baseball Home Run Derby at the 2023 Black College World Series. The event took place on May 13, 2023, and Stapleton emerged as the winner after a thrilling competition. Stapleton's impressive performance in the derby has earned him recognition as one of the top hitters in college baseball.

Stapleton's victory in the home run derby is a testament to his hard work and dedication to the sport. From Olive Branch, Mississippi, he slammed 15 home runs in three rounds of competition while Lloyd of Oxford, Alabama, launched 14. Stapleton has been a standout player for Rust College throughout the season, and his performance in the derby has solidified his position as one of the best players in college baseball. Stapleton's success is a source of pride for Rust College and the entire Black College World Series community.

The Black College World Series is an annual event that brings together some of the best college baseball teams from historically black colleges and universities. The home run derby is one of the most exciting events of the series, and this year's competition did not disappoint. Stapleton's victory is a reminder of the incredible talent that exists within this community.

Stapleton's win in the home run derby is just one example of the incredible achievements that can be accomplished through hard work and dedication. His performance has inspired many young athletes to pursue their dreams and strive for excellence. We congratulate Shemaar Stapleton on his victory and wish him continued success in his baseball career.
